1. The airfield was located west-northwest of the village of RUDA PABJANICKA (↓ 52/0 93). About seven hundred P/W and 70 German women did construction work at the field from December 1945 to June 1946; construction work was not yet completed. A runway, about 2,300 feet long, and a taxiway, about 8,000 feet long, were completed by June 1946. About 40 concrete aircraft revetments had been constructed along the taxiway. The field was not permanently occupied, but used temporarily by fighters and small biplanes.
